

Welcome to Britannica Library
library.eb.com

Three learning levels to choose from

Children

Young Adults

Reference Center
 High School through Adult

Free Online Training for Subscribers!
britannicalearn.com

Global Search Results for All Patrons

Articles are available at different reading levels! Select Level 1 for Children, Level 2 for Young Adults, Level 3 for Reference Center, or all 3.

View results based on content.

TRY THIS SEARCH IN ImageQuest

If your library subscribes to ImageQuest, click here to find additional images related to your search.

The screenshot shows the search results for "space exploration" on the Britannica Library Young Adults website. The page features a search bar at the top with the query "space exploration". Below the search bar, there are three tabs for reading levels: Level 1, Level 2 (selected), and Level 3. A callout box points to these tabs with the text: "Articles are available at different reading levels! Select Level 1 for Children, Level 2 for Young Adults, Level 3 for Reference Center, or all 3." On the left side, there is a "CONTENT TYPE" sidebar with options like Articles, Images, Videos, etc. A callout box points to this sidebar with the text: "View results based on content." The main content area displays a grid of image thumbnails with video play buttons. A callout box points to a link that says "TRY THIS SEARCH IN ImageQuest" with the text: "If your library subscribes to ImageQuest, click here to find additional images related to your search." Below the images, there are several article snippets with titles like "space exploration", "frontier", "Gagarin Tsiolkovsky", "science", and "navigation".

Encyclopedia Articles

Check out article information, multimedia, and related articles.

Jump to different reading levels within the article.

Double click on any word to get the definition and the Spanish translation.

The screenshot shows the full encyclopedia article for "space exploration" on the Britannica Library Young Adults website. The article title is "space exploration" and it includes tabs for "Article", "Images & Videos", and "Related". A callout box points to the left sidebar with the text: "Check out article information, multimedia, and related articles." Another callout box points to the "Reading Level" indicator (1, 2, 3) in the top right corner with the text: "Jump to different reading levels within the article." A third callout box points to a word "satellite" in the text with the text: "Double click on any word to get the definition and the Spanish translation." A pop-up window shows the definition of "satellite" in English and Spanish, along with a "See full definition" link. The article text discusses the exploration of space, mentioning the first artificial satellite, Sputnik 1, and the first human in space, Yuri Gagarin.

My Britannica for Patrons

Resource Packs make it easier to collect and share resources for different subject areas and projects!

Resource Packs allow users to collect and share Britannica information with other Britannica users.

In "My Britannica," favorite articles, images, and videos. View "My Content" to access them later for reports and projects.

Research Tools and Materials

Access "Research Tools and Materials" for quick search links, research assistance, and how-tos.

Free Online Training for Subscribers! britannicalearn.com