TRUSTWORTHY CONTRIBUTORS
The best and brightest minds in the world—4,500 and counting—provide the articles that make up one of the most-trusted and up-to-date information resources anywhere. The foremost subject-matter experts from the past and present include:

110 NOBEL PRIZE WINNERS
STEVEN CHU, DALAI LAMA, ALBERT EINSTEIN, DESMOND TUTU, JODY WILLIAMS

20 HEADS OF STATE-and-WORLD ACTIVISTS
ÓSCAR ARIAS SÁNCHEZ, NOOR AL-HUSSEIN, MARY ROBINSON, ELEANOR ROOSEVELT, ANWAR EL-SADAT

14 NOTABLE SPORTS FIGURES
CHRIS EVERT, SCOTT HAMILTON, TONY HAWK, JACK NICKLAUS, ARNOLD PALMER

5 UNITED STATES PRESIDENTS
JIMMY CARTER, BILL CLINTON, HERBERT HOOVER, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, JOHN F. KENNEDY

For over 200 years, Britannica has used a thorough and meticulous editorial process to deliver trusted information worldwide. As a result, students and educators across the globe have unparalleled access to expert knowledge in all subject areas, all aligned to today’s curriculum.
OUR EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

Written by Experts, Edited by Professionals

OUR TEAM IS 100+ MEMBERS STRONG

WE’RE OFTEN ASKED...

How does an article make its way from concept to publication?

Welcome to a behind-the-scenes look at our rigorous publishing process!

OUR EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

OUR EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

Britannica users

Educators, librarians, students and their families, along with other curious knowledge seekers, give us ongoing feedback that helps us refine our existing content and shape new articles.

britannica users

Our artists, designers, cartographers, and photo editors create or locate the perfect images to clarify or enhance an article’s content, while media specialists bring the written word to life with audio recordings and videos.

Information Architects

The final stop before publication. These specialists organize the contents of each article. It’s our version of leaving bread crumbs.

Copy Editors

These eagle-eyed folks check spelling and grammar and ensure that the information is clear and makes sense.

Supervisory Editors

These editors review all new or substantially revised articles.

Subject Editors

Specialists with advanced degrees and extensive experience in their fields write articles or edit those from outside contributors.

Fact-Checkers

Only when they give the articles a passing grade can the content go to the next level of review.

Britannica Art Department

Britannica Art Department

Britannica Digital Learning

Phone: (800) 621-3900  |  E-mail: contact@eb.com  |  Web: info.eb.com

©2014 Encyclopædia Britannica, Inc. Britannica, Encyclopædia Britannica and the Thistle logo are trademarks of Encyclopædia Britannica, Inc.